PRESIDENT NEWS:
WORD OF MOUTH BROUGHT THIS MEMBER TO FEI NYC

Our members are senior finance executives with deep experience across a wide variety of industries. I sat down recently with chapter member Manish Mohta to discuss his leadership role at a company that provides educational products and services to the k-12 market.

Manish, thank you for your membership in FEI! Where do you work and what is your role?

I am currently the CFO & COO at Hights Cross Communications & its subsidiary Triumph Learning. In this role, in addition to providing leadership & guidance to the finance, accounting, HR & IT functions, I really relish the role of being an advisor to the business heads in the sales, marketing, and editorial groups. This role also involves working with the board in defining the strategic vision and long term goals.

What is most challenging about your role? Being in a fiduciary role, it is critical to maintain the right balance between expectations of the ownership, management team, and the employees. You have to wear different hats based on the audience and creating an environment that continues the path forward efficiently - there are times when there is certain information that you cannot share but still need to get the tasks at hand done and done timely. From a pure operational standpoint, ensuring that we are looking at the right metrics and identifying and addressing any areas of concern is another key part of this role.

What are the top 3 things that keep you up at night as CFO?

Talent retention - As a leader on the management team, it is imperative that we continue to keep the right talent pool as the cost of losing a key employee is always way more than cost of retaining them. In looking at the short term, sometimes that is missed and we only realize the impact too late. Click for the full interview

Join Manish and many other chapter members as we learn, socialize and grow together. We have two programs in November (Landing a Board Seat and Turnaround Strategies from Silicon Valley) and a Holiday Fiesta in December (help us create an official chapter cocktail). Register today so we can save your spot.

See you soon,
Matt
